

Website Work Samples

By Matthew J. DeReno

(www.CityofClarksburg.net)

Figure 1: CityofClarksburg.Net - I successfully proposed a contract to redevelop the City of Clarksburg, W.Va.'s old website (based on ColdFusion) into a CMS Website powered by Joomla.

(www.AcrossRoss.com)

Figure 2: AcrossRoss.com – A community Website for Ross Township and West View Borough, Pa. I developed this site to connect the businesses and people of the community in which I live (Ross Township, Pa.). Note: The website has a higher Alexa.com ranking than several sites produced by major dailies to cover the North Hills area of Pittsburgh.

(www.UTECWV.us)

Figure 4: UTEC (Utilities, Telecommunications and Energy Coalition of West Virginia). I was hired by this association to develop a content management system-based website. The association is comprised of members from many of the largest utilities and telecommunications companies in the US (Console Energy, Verizon, Equitable Resources, Penn Power, etc.). I suggested the theme of “West Virginia nature” to soften the cold industrial look that characterized their original website.

(www.CoolFilmz.com)

Figure 5: CoolFilmz.com – This is a film review Website which I also write for as well. I conceptualized and created the rotating images (i.e., The Casablanca image shown above) in Photoshop blending several graphics and applying various filters.

(www.MinardiPublicAffairs.com)

(www.JudgeConnect.com)
